This Notice of Privacy Practices describes how I may use and disclose your protected health information to carry out treatment, payment or health care operations and for other purposes that are permitted or required by law. It also describes your rights to access and control your protected health information. "Protected health information" is information about you, including demographic information, that may identify you and that relates to your past, present or future physical or mental health or condition and related health care services.

I am required to abide by the terms of this Notice of Privacy Practices. I may change the terms of my notice, at any time. The new notice will be effective for all protected health information that I maintain at that time. Upon your request, I will provide you with any revised Notice of Privacy Practices

1. Uses and Disclosures of Protected Health Information Uses and Disclosures of Protected Health Information Based Upon Your Written Consent

You will be asked by your service provider to sign a consent form. Once you have consented to use and disclosure of your protected health information for treatment, payment and health care operations by signing the consent form, Service provider will use or disclose your protected health information as described in this Section 1. Your protected health information may be used and disclosed by Service provider, their office staff and others outside of my office that are involved in your care and treatment for the purpose of providing health care services to you. Your protected health information may also be used and disclosed to pay your health care bills and to support the operation of the physician's practice.

Following are examples of the types of uses and disclosures of your protected health care information that Service provider is permitted to make once you have signed his consent form. These examples are not meant to be exhaustive, but to describe the types of uses and disclosures that may be made by my office once you have provided consent.

Treatment: I will use and disclose your protected health information to provide, coordinate, or manage your health care and any related services. This includes the coordination or management of your health care with a third party that has already obtained your permission to have access to your protected health information. For example, I would disclose your protected health information, as necessary, to a managed care company that provides care to you. I will also disclose protected health information to other psychologists or physicians who may be treating you when I have the necessary permission from you to disclose your protected health information.

For example, with a signed release form, your protected health information may be provided to a physician to whom you have been referred to ensure that the physician has the necessary information to diagnose or treat you. In addition, once a specific release form is signed, I may disclose your protected health information from time-to-time to another physician or health care provider (e.g., a specialist or laboratory) who, at the request of your physician, becomes involved in your care by providing assistance with your health care diagnosis or treatment to your physician.

Payment: Your protected health information will be used, as needed, to obtain payment for your health care services. This may include certain activities that your health insurance plan may undertake before it approves or pays for the health care services I recommend for you such as; making a determination of eligibility or coverage for insurance benefits, reviewing services provided to you for medical necessity, and undertaking utilization review activities.

For example, obtaining approval for psychological testing may require that your relevant protected health information be disclosed to the health plan to obtain approval for the testing.

Healthcare Operations: I may use or disclose, as-needed, your protected health information in order to support the business activities of your physician's practice. These activities include, but are not limited to, quality assessment activities, employee review activities, licensing, and conducting or arranging for other business activities.

I may also call you by name in the waiting room when Service provider is ready to see you. I may use or disclose your protected health information, as necessary, to contact you to remind you of your appointment or of an emergency or routine cancellation of your appointment.

I will share your protected health information with third party business associates that perform various activities (e.g., billing, transcription services) for the practice. Whenever an arrangement between my office and a business associate involves the use or disclosure of my protected health information, I will have a written contract that contains terms that will protect the privacy of your protected health information.

I may use or disclose your protected health information, as necessary, to provide you with information about treatment alternatives or other health-related benefits and services that may be of interest to you. I may also use and disclose your protected health information for other marketing activities. For example, your name and address or email address may be used to send you a newsletter about my practice and the services I offer. I may also send you information about products or services that I believe may be beneficial to you. You may contact my Privacy Contact to request that these materials not be sent to you.

Uses and Disclosures of Protected Health Information Based upon Your Written Authorization

Other uses and disclosures of your protected health information will be made only with your written authorization, unless otherwise permitted or required by law as described below. You may revoke this authorization, at any time, in writing, except to the extent that Service provider or my office has taken an action in reliance on the use or disclosure indicated in the authorization.

Other Permitted and Required Uses and Disclosures That May Be Made With Your Consent, Authorization or Opportunity to Object

I may use and disclose your protected health information in the following instances. You have the opportunity to agree or object to the use or disclosure of all or part of your protected health information. If you are not present or able to agree or object to the use or disclosure of the protected health information, then Service provider may, using professional judgment, determine whether the disclosure is in your best interest. In this case, only the protected health information that is relevant to your health care will be disclosed.

Others Involved in Your Healthcare: Unless you object, I may disclose to a member of your family, a relative, a close friend or any other person you identify, your protected health information that directly relates to that person's involvement in your health care. If you are unable to agree or object to such a disclosure, I may disclose such information as necessary if I determine that it is in your best interest based on my professional judgment. I may use or disclose protected health information to notify or assist in notifying a family member, personal representative or any other person that is responsible for your care of your location, general condition or death. Finally, I may use or disclose your protected health information to an authorized public or private entity to assist in disaster relief efforts and to coordinate uses and disclosures to family or other individuals involved in your health care.

Emergencies: I may use or disclose your protected health information in an emergency treatment situation. If this happens, Service provider shall try to obtain your consent during or as soon as reasonably practicable after the delivery of treatment. If Service provider is required by law to treat you and he has attempted to obtain your consent but is unable to obtain your consent, he or she may still use or disclose your protected health information to treat you.

Communication Barriers: I may use and disclose your protected health information if Service provider attempts to obtain consent from you but is unable to do so due to substantial communication barriers and Service provider determines, using professional judgment, that you intend to consent to use or disclosure under the circumstances.

Other Permitted and Required Uses and Disclosures That May Be Made Without Your Consent, Authorization or Opportunity to Object

There are some situations in which I am permitted or legally required to disclose information without either your consent or Authorization. These situations include:

Required By Law: I may use or disclose your protected health information to the extent that law requires the use or disclosure. The use or disclosure will be made in compliance with the law and will be limited to the relevant requirements of the law. You will be notified, as required by law, of any such uses or disclosures.

Health Oversight: I may disclose protected health information to a health oversight agency for activities authorized by law, such as audits, investigations, and inspections. Oversight agencies seeking this information include government agencies that oversee the health care system, government benefit programs, other government regulatory programs and civil rights laws.

Abuse or Neglect: If I have reasonable cause to believe that abandonment, abuse, financial exploitation, or neglect of a vulnerable adult has occurred, the law requires that I file a report with the appropriate government agency. For clients under the age of 18 this means reporting to the state of Washington ANY abuse event that is revealed to me in the course of our work together. In addition, I may disclose your protected health information if I believe that you have been a victim of abuse, neglect or domestic violence to the governmental entity or agency authorized to receive such information. In this case, the disclosure will be made consistent with the requirements of applicable federal and state laws.

Legal Proceedings: I may disclose protected health information in the course of any judicial or administrative proceeding, in response to an order of a court or administrative tribunal (to the extent such disclosure is expressly authorized), in certain conditions in response to a subpoena, discovery request or other lawful process.

Law Enforcement: I may also disclose protected health information, so long as applicable legal requirements are met, for law enforcement purposes. These law enforcement purposes include (1) legal processes and otherwise required by law, (2) limited information requests for identification and location purposes, (3) pertaining to victims of a crime, (4) suspicion that death has occurred as a result of criminal conduct, (5) in the event that a crime occurs on the premises of the practice, and (6) medical emergency (not on the Practices premises) and it is likely that a crime has occurred.

Coroners, Funeral Directors, and Organ Donation: I may disclose protected health information to a coroner or medical examiner for identification purposes, determining cause of death or for the coroner or medical examiner to perform other duties authorized by law. I may also disclose protected health information to a funeral director, as authorized by law, in order to permit the funeral director to carry out their duties. I may disclose such information in reasonable anticipation of death. Protected health information may be used and disclosed for cadaveric organ, eye or tissue donation purposes.

Research: I may disclose your protected health information to researchers when their research has been approved by an institutional review board that has reviewed the research proposal and established protocols to ensure the privacy of your protected health information.

Criminal Activity: Consistent with applicable federal and state laws, I may disclose your protected health information, if I believe that the use or disclosure is necessary to prevent or lessen a serious and imminent threat to the health or safety of a person or the public. I may also disclose protected health information if it is necessary for law enforcement authorities to identify or apprehend an individual.

Military Activity and National Security: When the appropriate conditions apply, I may use or disclose protected health information of individuals who are Armed Forces personnel (1) for activities deemed necessary by appropriate military command authorities; (2) for the purpose of a determination by the Department of Veterans Affairs of your eligibility for benefits, or (3) to foreign military authority if you are a member of that foreign military services. I may also disclose your protected health information to authorized federal officials for conducting national security and intelligence activities, including for the provision of protective services to the President or others legally authorized.

Workers' Compensation: I may disclose your protected health information as authorized to comply with workers' compensation laws and other similar legally established programs.

Inmates: I may use or disclose your protected health information if you are an inmate of a correctional facility and Service provider created or received your protected health information in the course of providing care to you.

Required Uses and Disclosures: Under the law, I must make disclosures to you and when required by the Secretary of the Department of Health and Human Services to investigate or determine our compliance with the requirements of Section 164.500 et. seq.

2. Your Rights

Following is a statement of your rights with respect to your protected health information and a brief description of how you may exercise these rights.

You have the right to inspect and copy your protected health information. This means you may inspect and obtain a copy of protected health information about you that is contained in a designated record set for as long as I maintain the protected health information. A "designated record set" contains medical and billing records and any other records that your physician and the practice uses for making decisions about you.

Under federal law, however, you may not inspect or copy the following records; psychotherapy notes; information compiled in reasonable anticipation of, or use in, a civil, criminal, or administrative action or proceeding, and protected health information that is subject to law that prohibits access to protected health information. Depending on the circumstances, a decision to deny access may be reviewable. In some circumstances, you may have a right to have this decision reviewed.

Please contact the Privacy Contact if you have questions about access to your medical record.

You have the right to request a restriction of your protected health information. This means you may ask us not to use or disclose any part of your protected health information for the purposes of treatment, payment or healthcare operations. You may also request that any part of your protected health information not be disclosed to family members or friends who may be involved in your care or for notification purposes as described in this Notice of Privacy Practices. Your request must state the specific restriction requested and to whom you want the restriction to apply.

Service provider is not required to agree to a restriction that you may request. If Service provider believes it is in your best interest to permit use and disclosure of your protected health information, your protected health information will not be restricted. If your physician does agree to the requested restriction, I may not use or disclose your protected health information in violation of that restriction unless it is needed to provide emergency treatment. With this in mind, please discuss any restriction you wish to request with your physician. You may request a restriction by communicating in writing directly with Service provider.

You have the right to request to receive confidential communications from us by alternative means or at an alternative location. I will accommodate reasonable requests. I may also condition this accommodation by asking you for information as to how payment will be handled or specification of an alternative address or other method of contact. I will not request an explanation from you as to the basis for the request. Please make this request in writing to the Privacy Contact.

You may have the right to have your physician amend your protected health information. This means you may request an amendment of protected health information about you in a designated record set for as long as I maintain this information.

In certain cases, I may deny your request for an amendment. If I deny your request for amendment, you have the right to file a statement of disagreement with us and I may prepare a rebuttal to your statement and will provide you with a copy of any such rebuttal. Please contact the Privacy Contact to determine if you have questions about amending your medical record.

You have the right to receive an accounting of certain disclosures I have made, if any, of your protected health information. This right applies to disclosures for purposes other than treatment, payment or healthcare operations as described in this Notice of Privacy Practices. It excludes disclosures I may have made to you, for a facility directory, to family members or friends involved in your care, or for notification purposes. You have the right to receive specific information regarding these disclosures that occurred after April 14, 2003. You may request a shorter timeframe. The right to receive this information is subject to certain exceptions, restrictions and limitations.

You have the right to obtain a paper copy of this notice from us, upon request, even if you have agreed to accept this notice electronically.

3. Complaints

You may complain to us or to the Secretary of Health and Human Services if you believe your privacy rights have been violated by us. You may file a complaint with us by notifying the privacy contact of your complaint. I will not retaliate against you for filing a complaint.

You may contact our Privacy Contact, Dr. Amber Tabares at (206) 612-1390, or for further information about the complaint process.
